

Alex Osennann

Bad:

Orbie Playdates

Finalize

Preferred Activities

Energy Level

- Age Range

Size

☐ Walk

☐ Swim

☐ Fetch

☐ Relax

☐ Tug of War

Other

Unclear order of operations: The order in which the user is supposed to complete tasks is ordered from bottom to top. The biggest issue with this is that the finalize section is at the top which is conventionally supposed to be completed last. The convention is to list these from top to bottom and the user is most likely used to that.

Unclear Grouping: These activities should all be grouped together, however, the tug of war checkbox is much larger than the rest and isn't in alignment with the rest.

Good:

Orbie Playdates

Size

Age Range

Energy Level

Preferred Activities

Finalize

☐ Walk

☐ Swim

☐ Fetch

☐ Relax

☐ Tug of War

☐ Other

Clear order of operations: The convention for the order in which the user accomplishes tasks is from top to bottom as implemented here. Most importantly the finalize task is last as it's clearing the last task to complete.

Clear Grouping: All of these activities are grouped together so their corresponding text and checkboxes are aligned and have the same size.

Clear Visual Hierarchy: The tasks in this sidebar are all of the same importance. Thus, they are all represented by the same sized text, are aligned properly and each have an identical line separating them.

Confusing Visual Hierarchy: Each task in this sidebar is of the same importance. However, the age range task doesn't have a line separating it from the task above it so it appears to be a subtask of Energy level.